

As part of the "Software Architecture Design" course held by prof. Anna Rita Fasolino for the Master's degree course in Computer Engineering, an educational initiative that will offer students the opportunity to achieve the international certification of "Disciplined Agile Scrum Master (DASM)" issued by the PMI (Project Management Institute) was launched.

This certification allows students to obtain recognition of the training and skills acquired in the field of Agile disciplines at our master's degree course. More details on the certification can be found at: <https://www.pmi.org/certifications/agile-certifications/disciplined-agile-scrum-master-dasm>.

The initiative was made possible thanks to the collaboration with PMI (<https://www.pmi.org/>), international certification body on Project Management and Agile disciplines, the company Xebir, <http://www.xebir.com/>, training partner authorized by the PMI who will carry out a series of seminars to complete the preparation for the certification exam, as well as thanks to the DIETI - Department of Electrical Engineering and Information Technologies (<https://www.dieti.unina.it/index.php/it/>) that supported the implementation of the initiative.
